POST-SECONDARY BC

Three Kinds of Admission

“Open” Admission or Enrolment

- Non-competitive process
- Used by colleges and some universities
- Mostly 1st year Arts/Science programs

Admission Requirements:

- Gr. 12 graduation
- An acceptable English 12 standing

POST-SECONDARY BC

Three Kinds of Admission

“Limited” Admission

- Competitive process
- Applies to programs with limited seats
- Mostly certificate and diploma programs

Admission Requirements:

- Offer sent out after requirements met
- Applicant may accept or decline offer
- Process continues until all seats are full
- Some programs also create wait lists

POST-SECONDARY BC

Three Kinds of Admission

“Selective” Admission

- Competitive process
- Used mostly by research universities
- Also high demand programs (Eg. Nursing)

Admission Requirements:

- Students apply before a deadline
- Provide proof of course and GPA requirements
- Selected based on the info they provide
- Admission may be withdrawn if final grades do not match self-reported grades

POST-SECONDARY BC

Courses to Consider

Three courses most commonly considered in post-secondary admissions requirements:

English 12 (or equivalent)

Math 11 or 12 (Pre-Calculus or Foundations)

Science (Chemistry, Biology & Physics)

Note: Exact requirements vary by school and program. Check institutional websites!

POST-SECONDARY BC

Three Types of Fees

1. Tuition Fees: The actual cost of a program, normally based on a ‘per credit’ fee.
2. Student Fees: Fees that institutions charge to cover facility and service costs.
3. Student Union Fees: Fees that student governments charge for their services:
 - Ex. U-Pass, Health & Dental, etc.
 - There may be able to “opt-out” if your student already has coverage through family/employer

POST-SECONDARY BC

Additional Costs to Consider

Books & Supplies

- Can be up to $150 per course, or more

Living Expenses

- Transportation, accommodation, food, etc.
- Can be more than the other two costs combined - and too often overlooked by students when considering their options

POST-SECONDARY BC

Three Realities for Parents to Reflect On

Your “student” is considered an adult

- Age is not an issue in post-secondary

You do not have access to their info

- Federal/Provincial privacy legislation applies
- You can't see marks, files, or personal info

Your “student” is 100% responsible for all decisions and interactions with their institution

POST-SECONDARY BC

Start Planning

1. Develop a Post-Secondary plan: you can apply to more than one
2. Have a “Plan B” - you may not get in to your first choice
3. Be prepared for the unknown (“Plan C”)
